WORLD GRAIN

Milling & Baking News

THE GRAIN 100

- The Grain 100 consists of the top multiple facility grain companies and cooperatives in North America according to total corporate grain storage capacity. (Ninety-five multiple facility companies with more than 7 million bushels storage are included in this section. Inclusion of the next group of companies with significant capacities would have far exceeded the goal of identifying the top 100.)
- Statistics for individual facility locations are listed by state in the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevators section.
- The number of country elevators is listed. Because country elevator numbers are included, the total number of facilities and the total corporate grain storage capacity figures may not necessarily be the sum of individual facility listings in the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevators section.
- Conversions of tonnes and hundred weights to bushels are approximates.
- Throughout the directory, leased facilities are listed under the company which currently operates the elevator with lessors, if known, designated in parentheses.
- Facilities owned by a consortium are not credited to any individual member.
- City or company names in parentheses following an individual facility location are for clarification purposes when referring to the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevator section.

HUMPHREY
Employees' Belt Manlift

Production goes up when a Humphrey employees' belt manlift goes in. You save man-hours by eliminating stair-climbing time and fatigue. A Humphrey manlift provides simultaneous up and down transportation, eliminates waiting and delays. It costs less to install and maintain than conventional elevators and takes only a fraction of the space.

Important SAFETY FEATURES of the HUMPHREY Employees' Belt Manlift

1. In-track safety stops. They break the electrical circuit, applying the magnetic disc brake to stop the manlift, if a rider fails to dismount at the top landing. Also furnished at bottom of manlift when a pit is required.

2. Overhead safety stop at the top of the manlift breaks the electrical circuit, applying the magnetic disc brake to stop the manlift, when tubular bar is dislodged by a rider.

3. Foot treadle safety stop. Available for mounting at bottom of manlift. It breaks the electrical circuit, applying the magnetic disc brake to stop the manlift, when rider steps on treadle board.

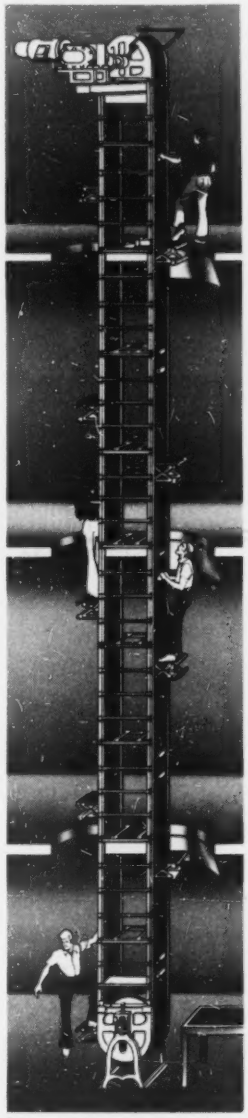
4. Fixed or moveable safety cones for mounting beneath floor openings on the up-travel side. The moveable type is equipped with a switch that breaks the electrical circuit, applying the magnetic disc brake to stop the manlift, if cone is bumped by a rider.

5. Start-stop control rope is always available to riders on both the up and down sides of the belt. Manlift can be stopped by rider at any point by pulling the control rope in the direction of travel.

6. All Humphrey manlift belting is tested and certified for manlift service.

7. Magnetic disc brake, mounted on motor shaft extension, is applied upon loss of power to motor.

8. Centrifugal force-operated "Saf-T-Stop"™ brake or electronically-actuated "Saf-T-Stop"™ brake with safety hold-back are available where required by state or provincial codes. They are always available as extra-cost options.



Drive support, guard rails and gates are not shown for simplicity in depicting the belt manlift.

PROFILE OF THE GRAIN 100

The 1986 Grain Directory lists the top multiple facility grain companies and cooperatives in North America according to total corporate grain storage capacity. To qualify companies must have more than one facility and more than 7 million bus of storage. Companies are listed alphabetically when capacity figures are the same. Only 95 companies are listed because inclusion of the next group of companies with significant capacities below 7 million bus would have far exceeded the goal of identifying the top 100.

The licensed storage capacity of the Grain 100 totals 2,910,019,309 bus. Eight Canadian grain companies and cooperatives account for 467,147,720 or 16% of the listed capacity, about the same as last year. Of the capacity for the U.S., 54 independent companies accounted for 70% and 33 cooperatives claimed 30%. These percentages were also in line with last year's directory statistics.

The top North American grain companies operate 3,978-plus grain storage facilities, not including unreported country elevators for several major companies. A breakdown of the reported facilities shows 63 port, 202 river, 197 terminal, 142 subterminal, 19 Canadian transfer, 15 Canadian terminal elevators, 29 storage houses for processors and 3,311 country elevators. Statistics for The Grain 100's individual facility locations are included in the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevator section.

In the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevator section, the total of 844 individual facility locations represents a 1.5% decrease in the number of listings from the 1985 directory. As a result of additions and deletions, a net of 12 individual facilities were eliminated from this section because the companies were no longer in business or the facilities were closed or not operating because they are leased elevators with no current lessee.

Statistics on 70 port, 246 river, 276 terminals, 197 subterminals, 28 Canadian transfer, 21 Canadian terminals and 6 floating elevators are listed. Fifty-five company name changes were noted as a result of facilities being sold or merged.

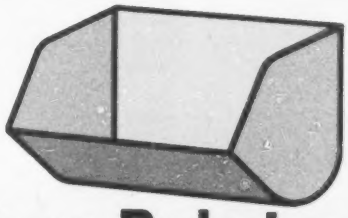
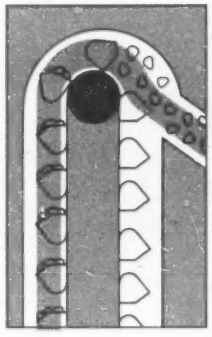
Back-legging wastes money.





Dura-Buket cures back-legging.

Running material through the elevator a second time increases risk of damage. You can get fines. Splits. Foreign material. The result? You lose quality... and money.

Dura-Buket was the first plastic elevator bucket. It was developed more than 30 years ago by a grain company to solve their grain handling problems.

Specially designed to minimize back-legging, Dura-Bukets are so rugged, they're now used to elevate fertilizers, sand, pulp, food products...and many other materials.

The complete Dura-Buket line includes:

- 25 sizes of elevator buckets from 4 x 3 to 18 x 8
- 36 sizes of Low Profile (LP) buckets
- Abrasion-resistant linings (UHMW and urethane)
- UHMW drag flights (enmasse & trough)
- Hanger bearing inserts (woods & UHMW)
- Elevator bolts

WHEAT EXPORTS BY PORT

• While Pacific Coast ports posted the largest increase in grain export clearances in 1984 from the previous year, volume of wheat shipped from these ports actually declined, according to data compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Office of Transportation of U.S.D.A., in releasing flow maps on exports by port area (below), noted that while corn shipments through the Columbia River rose to 4.8 million tonnes in 1984 from 900,000 tonnes in 1983, "Pacific Coast wheat exports dropped slightly. This decline was a plus for Gulf ports."

• According to U.S.D.A. compilations wheat exports from Gulf ports in 1984 totaled 26,181,000 tonnes, or 63% of the total for all ports. That compares with 22,666,000 tonnes, or 58.3% of the total, in 1983. Wheat clearances from Pacific Coast ports in 1984 totaled 10,866,000 tonnes, or 26% of the U.S. total, down from 12,148,000, or 31.2%, in 1983.

THE GRAIN 100

- The Grain 100 consists of the top multiple facility grain companies and cooperatives in North America according to total corporate grain storage capacity. (One hundred and one multiple facility companies with more than 6 million bushels storage are listed in this section.)
- Statistics for individual facilities are listed by state in the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal section.
- Because country elevator numbers are included, the total number of facilities and the total corporate grain storage capacity figures may not necessarily be the sum of individual facility listings in the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal section.
- Conversions of tonnes to bushels are approximates.
- Throughout the directory, leased facilities are listed under the company which currently operates the elevator with lessors designated in parentheses.
- Facilities owned by a consortium of more than two are not credited to any individual member.
- City or company names in parentheses following an individual facility location are for identification purposes when referring to the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal section. If the company has more than one facility in a city, the number follows in parentheses.

HOW TO GET RID OF UNINVITED PESTS.

Look to the Douglas Duo.

Chlor-O-Pic
Liquid Fumigant

Evaporates into a powerful gas that penetrates into the grain mass to kill pests where they hide and breed.

PhosTek
Fumigation Tablets or Pellets

Versatile. Effective. For use in vertical or flat storage . . . cereal or feed mills . . . railcars . . . and warehouses.

WHATEVER THE COMMODITY ... TYPE OF STORAGE ... TEMPERATURE ... KIND OF PEST ...
Chlor-O-Pic or PhosTek delivers a complete kill!
Both kill all grain insects (eggs to adults). They're lethal to rodents, too. They comply with international and national standards and will not contaminate or discolor commodities.

ACCEPTABLE FOR USDA APPROVED STORAGE

. . . for as little as 12 to 17 cents per bushel.

(for 1 million bushel POD, depending on the kind of grain and the configuration.)

Designed by ADVANCED STORAGE, INC. P.O.D. Unit Storage (Patent Pending) is the highest state of the art in controlled atmosphere storage. Constructed of welded tire-cord strength PVC coated fabric, the sealed unit is so impermeable to odor that rodents can not detect the grain within. The assembled P.O.D. is stabilized and grain condition maintained by ASI's exclusive Oxygen Depletion Process. The result is an explosion-proof storage compartment that when properly maintained is free of infestation and problems caused by moisture migration. Grain can be monitored through sensing devices sealed in the unit. Sampling can be made through resealable openings in the fabric.

P.O.D. sizes, shapes and prices are based on the customer's available space and desired configuration. For additional information contact:

PROFILE OF THE GRAIN 100

The 1987 North American Grain Yearbook lists the top multiple facility grain companies and cooperatives in North America according to total corporate grain storage capacity. To qualify, companies must have more than one facility and more than 6 million bushels of storage. Companies are listed alphabetically when capacity figures are the same; as a result, 101 companies are listed.

The licensed storage capacity of the Grain 100 totals 3,180,699,000 bus up 9% from 1986. Ten Canadian grain companies and cooperatives accounted for 477,832,000 bus or 15% of the listed capacity. Of the capacity in the U.S., 71 independent companies accounted for 76.5%, and 30 cooperatives claimed 23.5%, a decrease from the 30% share claimed by co-ops in the 1985 and 1986 directories.

The top North American grain companies operated 3,913-plus grain storage facilities not including unreported country elevators for several major companies. A breakdown of the reported facilities shows 60 port, 192 river, 233 terminals, 154 subterminals, 20 Canadian transfer, 15 Canadian terminals, 1,188 U.S. country elevators, 2,043 Canadian country elevators and 8 storage facilities for processing plants. Statistics for the Grain 100's individual facility locations are included in the Port, River, Subterminal and Terminal section.

In the Port, River, Terminal and Subterminal elevator section, the total of 887 individual facility locations represents a 5% increase in the number of listings from the 1986 directory. There are 306 terminals, 208 subterminals, 248 river facilities, 70 ports, 6 floating terminals, 22 Canadian terminals and 27 Canadian transfer elevators listed.

The following companies met the qualifications for inclusion in the 1987 edition of the Grain 100: ADM Grain Co.; Agri Sales, Inc.; Alberta Terminals Ltd.; Cereal Food Processors, Inc.; Columbia Grain, Inc.; Dixie Portland Flour Mills, Inc.; Goderich Elevators Ltd.; Scoular Grain Co. and Wolcott & Lincoln, Inc.

A number of mergers and acquisitions resulted in the addition of several companies to the directory.

ADM/Growmark. A joint venture between the regional Illinois cooperative, Growmark, Inc., and Archer Daniels Midland Co., Decatur, Ill., consolidated the grain marketing and river elevator operations of both into a new ADM subsidiary, ADM/Growmark, in November 1985. ADM/Growmark also purchased an Ama, La., port elevator from Farmers Export Co.

Aurora Cooperative Elevator Co. The Aurora, Neb., cooperative purchased the assets of the Farmers Union Cooperative Elevator Association of Grand Island in July 1986. In extending its trade area, the co-op added two elevators to the three it owned.

Avon Grain Co. In a joint venture, 12 Iowa cooperatives purchased the Avon, Iowa, elevator of AGRI Industries, Inc., West Des Moines, in June 1986. The Avon Grain Co. also has a leasing agreement with AGRI Industries for a smaller elevator located in Des Moines.

Elders Grain, Inc. An affiliate of Elders IXL of Australia, Elders Grain, Inc. purchased the assets of J. Lynch and Co., Inc., Salina, Kas. With the acquisition, the Overland Park, Kas., company became more actively involved in day-to-day grain handling in the U.S.

Mid-States Terminals, Inc. A subsidiary of the Ohio regional cooperative, Countrymark, Inc., Mid-States Terminals acquired the facilities of Agra Land, Inc., a Michigan cooperative, and now operates the units under the name Mid-States Terminals.

Other significant name, ownership or operational changes noted included:

AG Processing, Inc. AGRI Industries sold its soybean processing plants at Manning and Mason City, Iowa, to AG Processing, Inc., of Omaha.

AGRI Grain Marketing. AGRI Industries, Inc. and Cargill, Inc. entered a grain marketing partnership in February 1986. The partnership originates and merchandises grain from Iowa through six river terminals in Iowa and Illinois. The elevators are leased from both parent organizations.

Cargill, Inc. The 26-million bu terminal at Plainview, Texas, formerly owned by PLB Grain Storage, was leased by Cargill in October 1985.

Cooperative Elevator Co. The Pigeon, Mich., cooperative no longer uses the name Pigeon Cooperative Elevator.

Farmers Export Co. The lease of the Conrail port facility at Philadelphia to Farmers Export Co., an interregional cooperative, terminated on Jan. 1, 1986. Conrail currently operates the elevator as a coal handling facility.

General Mills, Inc. The Checkerboard Grain port facility at Minneapolis was bought by General Mills.

Louis Dreyfus Corp. The company purchased a Sioux City, Iowa, terminal from Terminal Grain Corp. Another terminal in Kansas City, Mo., was bought from Checkerboard Grain Co., St. Louis.

Midwest Grain Products, Inc. In October 1985, Midwest Solvents Co., Inc., a major supplier of wheat gluten and grain neutral spirits, changed its name to Midwest Grain Products, Inc. to more accurately reflect the nature of its business.

Wolcott & Lincoln (KCT). Kansas City Terminal Elevator Co. sold its elevator No.2 to Wolcott & Lincoln of Kansas City, Mo.

AGRI Industries, Inc., Checkerboard Grain Co. and Farmers Export Co. no longer met the qualifications for inclusion because of mergers, sales of facilities or no longer doing business.

FARM TO

Most grain isn't grown where it's needed. Nor is it harvested when it's needed most. Therefore, planning, scheduling and coordination of grain movements presents a tremendous logistical challenge.

For more than a century, Cargill has risen to meet that challenge. We provide expertise and logistical knowhow to help growers and consumers adjust their marketing strategies to these dislocations in time and geography. We help them store, condition, process and transport millions of tons of grain annually.

Our responsive marketing organization overcomes the problems posed by time and space to meet the needs of growers and consumers alike. That's why Cargill has become the "to" in "Farm to Market."
